

TRAVIS VAN ISACKER

Short biography

Travis Van Isacker is Senior Research Associate at the ESRC Centre for Sociodigital Futures at the University of Bristol. His current research focuses on the transformation of border infrastructures through the application of new digital technologies in Europe and the United Kingdom.

Previously, he was Lecturer in Criminology at the University of Brighton, where he taught on the Criminality of Borders module. There he completed his PhD research on the eviction and destructions of migrants' homes in the 'hostile environment' of Calais, France.