

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Riccardo Rinaldi

✉ riccardo.rinaldi@unipr.it

Sex Male | Date of birth 28.04.1989 | Nationality Italian

WORK

Since January 2022

Post-doc researcher in Applied Economics

Università di Parma, Department of Economics and Management

- Research project: Migrant entrepreneurship, employment and innovation in strategic Italian economic sectors: a lever of social pacification? – SSD: SECS-P06
- Research project: Ecosystem for Sustainable Transition in Emilia-Romagna– SSD: SECS-P06

Since September 2022

Teaching assistant “Introduction to applied economic analysis and industry studies”

Università di Bologna, Department of Civil, Chemical, Environmental, and Materials Engineering – DICAM. 20 hours.

Teaching assistant: “Applied Economics: industry and territories”

Università di Bologna, Department of Civil, Chemical, Environmental, and Materials Engineering – DICAM. 20 hours.

January 2021 – January 2022

Ph.D. Administrative Manager

Università Alma Mater Studiorum Bologna

- Assistance to professors and Ph.D. candidates
- Management of agreements and founds with EU projects and private firms.

February - May 2019

Tutor

Università di Bologna

- Assistance to professor for the course of Economic policy.

June - July 2015

Research assistant

Università di Bologna

- Assistant for the paper: Rovelli, Riccardo. 2015. "Do old and new EU members states have different labor market institution, and did this matter for their macroeconomic performance before and during the great recession?" IZA Policy Papers. Contribution to the literature review and the data analysis (Eurostat, OECD and ICTWSS data). The paper investigates the contribution of formal (via unions) and informal wage coordination mechanisms to macroeconomic performance, analysing the differences between old and new member countries.

March - September 2015

Tutor

Università di Bologna

- Assistance to professors for the courses of English language.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

December 2015 – October 2019

Ph.D. in Economics

Universities of Florence, Pisa and Siena

- Dissertation: “An empirical study on the relationship between technological innovation and the task structure of jobs”
- Dissertation committee: Filippo Belloc, Andrea Mina, Rafael Muñoz de Bustillo Llorente,
- Doctoral advisor: Francesca Bettio
- The thesis is an empirical study on the impact of technological innovation on employment and job characteristics. The three chapters are divided into: 1 descriptive statistic of the evolution of job tasks (European Working Condition Survey data); 2 an econometric approach about the impact of computerization on the task structure of jobs (EWCS data; fixed-effects model, fractional response model and instrumental variable); 3 an econometric approach on a regional level (NUTS 2 European regions) on the impact of routine jobs on the polarization of regional labor markets (EWCS and Labor Force Survey data; OLS model).

2012 → 2015

Master Degree

Università Alma Mater Studiorum Bologna

- International relations and diplomatic affairs
- Final mark 110L/110
- Supervisor: prof. Hartmut Lehmann
- Thesis: Flexibilization in labour market institutions. An econometric analysis of the impact of flexibilization policies on employment and inequalities in OECD countries (using OECD data, in particular the Employment Protection Legislation – EPL index; fixed-effects model).

2009 → 2012

Bachelor's Degree

Università Alma Mater Studiorum Bologna

- Political and organizational sciences
- Final mark 104/110
- Thesis: Democratic crisis in the economic crisis

EXCHANGE AND VISITING POSITIONS

July-August 2018

Visiting student

Eurofound – Dublin

- Contribution to the methodological design and statistical analysis of two of Eurofound's projects: Employment impact of automation; European Job Monitor.
- Chief researcher: Enrique Fernandez-Macias.

April-May 2018

Visiting student

Joint Research Center – Seville

- Contribution to the data analysis of the European Working Condition Survey and the Labor Force Survey.
- Chief researcher: Enrique Fernandez-Macias.

August-September 2017

Visiting student

CEPAL/ECLAC – Economic commission for Latin America and Caribbean, Santiago de Chile

- CEPAL summer school
- Essay: European crisis: a center-periphery approach. An essay with an history of economic thought perspective that links Latin-American structuralism to the monetary theories analysing European divergencies.

September-October 2014

Visiting student

IZA - Institute for Labor Research Bonn, Germany

- Labor economics. Research for the Master thesis.

January-May 2014

Exchange student

Sais Johns Hopkins – Bologna Campus

- International and diplomatic sciences: International Trade

2010 → 2011

Erasmus student

Humboldt Universität Berlin, Germany

- Political sciences

PUBLICATIONS

Published

Rinaldi, R. (2023), "The construction industry in EU: scenarios, dynamics, and policy implications" in L'Industria, Rivista di Economia e Politica Industriale, 2/2023, Il Mulino, Bologna.

Bisello, M., Peruffo, E., Fernandez-Macías, E., & Rinaldi, R. (2022). Routinization of work processes, de-routinization of job structures, Socio-Economic Review, 2022.
<https://academic.oup.com/ser/advance-article/doi/10.1093/ser/mwac044/6651793?questAccessKey=76cf5d11-d5b5-469b-90ae-a72548f6e4c5>

Bisello, M., Peruffo, E., Fernandez-Macías, E., & Rinaldi, R. (2019). How computerisation is transforming jobs: Evidence from the European Working Conditions Survey (No. 2019-02). Joint Research Centre (Seville site).
<https://ec.europa.eu/jrc/en/publication/eur-scientific-and-technical-research-reports/how-computerisation-transforming-jobs-evidence-eurofound-european-working-conditions-survey>

Working paper

Fabio Landini, Riccardo Rinaldi (2024) What We Can Learn from Atypical Employment of Migrant Workers in Manufacturing Industries: Institutional Segmentation or Screening Practices?

Riccardo Rinaldi, Alessandro Arrighetti, Andrea Lasagni and Jacopo Canello (2022) Immigrant entrepreneurship in Europe: a comparative empirical approach

Riccardo Rinaldi (2019) Routine-Biased Technological Change in the European Union: a regional analysis assessing differences in impacting countries

PRESENTATIONS

Fabio Landini & Riccardo Rinaldi (2024) What We Can Learn from Atypical Employment of Migrant Workers in Manufacturing Industries: Institutional Segmentation or Screening Practices? Presented at SIEPI 2024, Bergamo 13-14 June 2024

Riccardo Rinaldi (2019) Routine-Biased Technological Change in the European Union: a regional analysis assessing differences in impacting countries. Presented at IIPPE 2022, Bologna 7-10 September 2022

Riccardo Rinaldi, Alessandro Arrighetti, Andrea Lasagni & Jacopo Canello (2022) Immigrant entrepreneurship in Europe: a comparative empirical approach. Presented at SIEPI 2022, L'Aquila 16-17 June 2022

Bisello, M., Peruffo, E., Fernandez-Macías, E., & Rinaldi, R. (2019). How computerisation is transforming jobs: Evidence from the European Working Conditions Survey. Presented at "T.A.S.K.S. V Robotics, Artificial Intelligence and the Future of Work", Bonn 7-8 February 2019

ACADEMIC SKILLS

Econometric models

OLS

Instrumental variable

Fractional response

Panel data: fixed effects, difference-in-difference, first-difference

Datasets used

European Working Condition Survey (EWCS)

European Labor Force Survey (EU-LFS)

Survey on Earnings Structure (SES)

European Union Statistics on Living Conditions (EU-SILC)

PERSONAL SKILLS

Mother tongue(s) Italian

Other language(s)

	UNDERSTANDING		SPEAKING		WRITING
	Listening	Reading	Spoken interaction	Spoken production
English	C1	C1	C1	C1	C1
German	B2	B2	B2	B2	B2
Spanish	B1	B1	B1	B1	B1

Computer skills Perfect command of Stata software, Windows and Macintosh systems, Microsoft Office suite, Open Office suite, Adobe suite.

Driving licence Auto
 • Cat. B2

Bologna,
 03/12/2024

